time with characters

time with characters ⏳

creating and engaging with fan produced works was a way to simply spend time with a character as you would with a friend; world building practices were as much about building transmedia worlds as they were building relationships fan productivity and world building