

what is Cronbach's alpha?

what is Cronbach's alpha?

Cronbach's alpha is a measure of internal consistency within a scale; it is a coefficient of reliability a high alpha would mean that all the items on the scale were measuring the same variable (i.e. PSRs)

a high alpha does not indicate validity of the scale (i.e. strength of PSR)

what is Cronbach's alpha?

