

P4: i think probably that night was like the first night i delved into Cap fanfiction [... i] was immediately on there like who has gifs, who has...who is talking about this, someone has to be seeing the same thing i'm seeing like where are the people...where are you...come to me, and yeah and reading fanfiction probably within that first 24 hours i was like looking it up.

P6: i really wanted to explore [the characters] background [by writing fanfiction as they aren't] in a lot of the episodes [...] her episodes are definitely my faves, and they have been since i was a kid. and i like[d] the idea [of the adoption storyline], also that they don't really explore on the show that much.

